OAP's charity shop which raised Africa aid has new local cause

Kathleen's mission to help homeless

By CATHERINE PYE

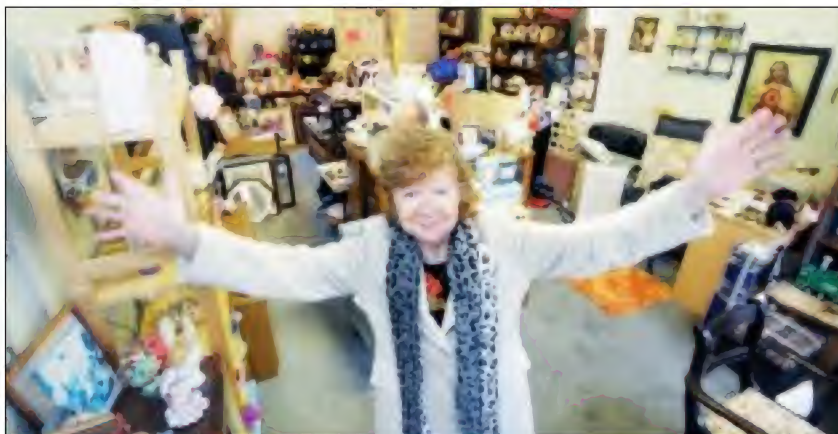

A pensioner who has raised thousands of pounds for leprosy sufferers in Africa is bringing her fundraising efforts closer to home.

Kathleen Ramsden, 77, has decided to dedicate the proceeds of her charity shop, in High Street, Rishton, to Nightsafe - a Blackburn-based charity for homeless young people, aged 16 to 24.

Mrs Ramsden decided to transfer her attention from Third World causes after the death of Father Luis Ruiz, who ran a Jesuit mission in London, and after reading about increasing homelessness in our sister newspaper, the Lancashire Telegraph.

She said: "The priest died aged 98, and they said that after raising £11,000 I had done enough. Then I looked at the paper and saw that there were more homeless people these days. I was warm in my bed and I said 'God help those sleeping out tonight'. It's a marvellous cause and I'm looking forward to working for them."

Mrs Ramsden, of Victoria Street, Clayton-le-Moors, hopes she can donate proceeds of sales, and also gifts of clothing and furniture to the users of Nightsafe.

She has run her shop since 2005, despite health problems and having a disabled daughter to care for.

She said: "If I can get out of bed in the morning, then I'm okay. I like to keep going. More people my age should get a job. If I didn't do this, then I'd be bored out of my mind."

Linda Sharratt, operations manager for Nightsafe, said: "Kathleen has supported us in the past and we've benefited a lot from it. She's an amazing, generous woman and we're all very pleased she wants to dedicate her shop to Nightsafe."

Kathleen, originally from County Donegal, went to work in London as a nurse when she was 18. She moved to Lancashire when she married a Lancashire lad and she has six children, and six grandchildren.

Homes and jobs vision gets nod

By EMMA CRUCES

Plans to create a six-acre homes and business development have been given the go-ahead.

The plans would see the demolition of a 1920s mill at Marlborough Road, in Accrington, and 91 homes, plus office buildings, built on the site. The project is from one of Hyndburn's biggest employers, Express Gifts.

It is also expected to create jobs, both through the expansion of Express Gifts, and by creating new workplace premises. Express Gifts' parent company Findel said with the scale, and nature, of the proposal now backed by Hyndburn Council, the site is now being marketed to residential developers.

Paul Richards, Findel head of group property, said: "We have worked very closely and effectively with Hyndburn Council to ensure the Hambledon Mill site will be developed sensitively, and in accordance with the needs of the town of Accrington."

"The development will provide much-needed housing, together with new jobs for the town, and will be a significant, and welcome, boost for the local economy in these challenging times.

"It is important that such a well-known local site is brought back into use."

The proposed scheme provides 23 four-bedroom detached houses; 45 three-bedroom semi-detached houses; 13 two-bedroom semi-detached; and 10 two-bedroom bungalows, with ancillary business units.

THE GOLD RUSH! HURRY, ORDER NOW BEFORE 12th FEB and beat the new FIT deadline of 3rd March

Government lose high court battle - what this means?

The judgement means customers who have installed solar panels since Dec 12, and those who intend to install systems before March 3rd, will receive the higher Feed In Tariff rates for the full 25 years. However, customers who register after 3rd March will qualify for the current higher rate until April 1st, when the Feed In Tariff will drop to lower rates as set out in the October 31st announcements. Along with the reduced FIT rates that the Government are enforcing, from 31st March 2012 you will need to possess an Energy Performance Certificate (EPC) Level C if you wish to install solar panels on your home.

To ensure that you have time for installation before the EPC deadline of the 31st March 2012, you will need to have your system registered by the 3rd March 2012

Managing Director Robert Barnard of Smart Pv, said "four judges, including three in the Court of Appeal, have now ruled the Governments actions illegal. That's a 4-0 victory and a decisive ruling that the Government may not make retrospective changes to the FIT because as Lord Justice Moses concludes "to do so would take away an existing entitlement without statutory authority."

The simple facts of the matter are that 18 months ago, a 4KW system for a tiled roof cost around £18,000. Costs for a 4KW system for a tiled roof have now fallen to around £9,000 fitted. With massively reduced prices on PV equipment, the new 21pence FIT rate (which will be introduced in April 2012) still provides a fantastic return on investment.

The next month will see another frenzy as homeowners look to secure the higher FIT rate. So don't delay and purchase your solar panels from Smart Pv today to reduce the hassle and stress of the new EPC requirements.

Mr & Mrs Chadwick of Bradshaw say

Please pass on my thanks to Robert, Mark & the rest of the install team for their work yesterday. The lads were professional & courteous throughout the day & observed the wife's strict "no walking on the living room carpet" rule. They were still on site when I arrived home & explained to me everything regarding the system. Before leaving they cleaned up. I am in a similar business having install teams working with the public & know it seems that the only feedback you get are complaints. No one takes the time to congratulate the lads when they do a good job. That is why I would like you to pass on my comments & just add that the lads are a credit to your company. All we need now is some sun!!!!

Allotment rents rise: Rethink hope

By NAFEEESA SHAN

Angry allotment tenants were told rent rises could be reviewed if a sustainable way to fund the plots was found.

Tenants from allotments across Hyndburn attended a public meeting set up after Hyndburn Council announced annual rents would be increased.

Some allotment holders said they faced hikes of 100per cent, if not higher.

During the question-and-answer session with Coun Ciaran Wells, who oversees the council's 620 allotments, people wanted to know why rents were due to rise from January next year, then on an annual basis until 2016.

More than 60 allotment holders filled the meeting room, in Baxenden Conservative Club, Manchester Road, with many left in the hallway and on the stairs.

Chairman Cathy Holmes, from the Baxenden Association, had to call for order countless times during the rowdy meeting. Allotment holders challenged Coun Wells why the rents would be increased, and accused the council of 'pricing people off'.

Rents have not risen over the last decade but the Labour group, now in charge of the council, said that capital funding would not be available to support the plots and alternative revenue streams were needed.

To make up the deficit, the council has notified all allotment holders that rents would be increased.

Many said they had not received any maintenance services from the council for years.

Coun Wells vowed that the council would help find funding grants to pump money into the areas, even though calls were made to rescind the rent rises.

One resident proposed that each tenant gave £1 to pay for a solicitor to take the council to court.

At the end of the meeting, Coun Wells said: "Increasing the rents is up for review and I will look into the services that have not been provided. We need to work out a much more sustainable allotment service."

Another meeting will be held on February 21 to discuss any developments.

'Honoured' to represent the Queen

DELIGHTED: Kamruddin Kothia

By JON LIVESEY

A Blackburn businessman has told of his 'great honour' at being made a Deputy Lieutenant of Lancashire.

Kamruddin Kothia is one of six new Deputy Lieutenants appointed by the Lord-Lieutenant of Lancashire to assist him in representing The Queen.

Lord Shuttleworth also selected Bill Beaumont and David Cam from Lytham, Carole Cochrane, from Hesketh Bank, Diane Duke, from Lancaster, and Robert Webb, from Carnforth.

Mr Kothia, who is managing director of eBusiness UK Ltd, based at Capricorn Park, in Blakewater Road, is also chairman of governors at Tauheedul Islam Girls' High School.

He said: "It's a great hon-

Businessman made a Deputy Lieutenant of Lancashire our and I'm delighted to be appointed. I guess I have been involved in quite a bit of community work in the recent past, so I guess it is because of that."

The new deputies join around 50 others across the county.

The Office of Lord-Lieutenant dates back to the reign of Henry VIII, when the holder was responsible for the maintenance of order, and for military purposes relating to local defence.

Lord-Lieutenants are Her Majesty's personal representative in a county, or area. Their prime duty is to uphold the dignity of the Crown, through functions such as arranging visits by members of the Royal family and escorting Royal visitors, presenting medals and awards like The Queen's Awards for Enterprise, on behalf of Her Majesty, and participating in civic, voluntary and social activities.

They also have to liaise with local units of the Royal Navy, Royal Marines, Army, Royal Air Force, and their associated cadet forces, and lead the local magistracy by chairing the Advisory Committee on Justices of the Peace.

Deputy Lieutenants assist the Lord-Lieutenant in carrying out these public duties.

Concert cash for cancer care

By NEIL DOCKING

A Valentine's Day concert will raise money for an innovative new 'skin cooling' treatment for East Lancashire cancer patients.

The Rosemere Cancer Foundation is hosting the annual event, which remembers the lives of people affected by the disease, at Blackburn Cathedral, on Friday, February 10.

The concert is part of the charity's efforts to hit a £20,000 fundraising target to support projects in Lancashire and South Cumbria.

These include a £9,000 'skin cooling package' at Burnley General Hospital and Royal Blackburn Hospital.

Patients with superficial skin cancers, or pre-cancerous skin lesions, can have them treated GREAT NIGHT: The charity's chief officer Sue Thompson effectively with a high-intensity light source, or laser. However, during this process many people experience considerable discomfort from a sensation of severe burning.

The skin cooling package uses cold air to reduce this sensation and, in doing so, helps to increase the patient's tolerance.

Sue Thompson, the charity's chief officer, said: "The Rosemere Cancer Foundation relies so much on the goodwill of our fundraisers and volunteers who work extremely hard to ensure cancer patients are able to be treated in their own area.

"The Valentine's Concert is a great opportunity for volunteers, fundraisers, patients, their friends and families, together with corporate supporters, to dress up and enjoy an entertaining night out.

"For just £15 you will enjoy a great night of entertainment, meet some brave, interesting, and wonderful people, while helping to raise money."

The concert, from 6.30pm, will be hosted by BBC Radio Lancashire's John Gillmore and feature a candlelit period of reflection. For tickets call 01772 522913.

Skydive for stroke charity

The Stroke Association is launching a Spring Leap Skydive and wants people in East Lancashire to take part. The charity needs 150 people to jump out of planes at the same time on Saturday, March 17.

Eleven airfields are taking part, including Lancaster. Daredevils will be attached to a professional instructor. Applications close on February 4. Call 0115 871 2471.

Pub to be demolished

The owner of Darwen metal fabricators WEC plans to knock down a 200-year-old pub 'as soon as he can'. Steve Hartley's plans to demolish Old Rosins Inn, at Pickup Bank, and build his home there, were passed by Blackburn with Darwen Council planning committee. WEC bought the 17th-century pub, hotel, and restaurant, as an investment, but had been unable to do anything with it. Now, Mr Hartley, who lives in Huddlesden, will knock it down and build a luxury home on the land, complete with helipad. No date has been set for work to begin.

Ooops!

Another customer for ChipsAway!

Every minute, someone somewhere becomes another potential customer for Mick Hyland, Blackburn based operator for ChipsAway International, leading 'on-the-spot' automotive paint repair specialists. Think about it. Whether it's a stone thrown up from the road, the key scraping against your car door, or an out of control shopping trolley clipping your paintwork in the car park on a busy Saturday morning - and we've all been there - chips, bumps and minor scuffs are part and parcel of being a car owner.

Unsurprising then that recent research has confirmed that the majority of the 32 million cars in the UK are in need of attention to their paintwork and that most drivers would love to find a quick, cost-effective and convenient way of repairing their minor paint damage. After all, nobody wants the expense and inconvenience of booking their car into a body shop for small jobs. Industry experts also advise that keeping car paintwork up to scratch will extend the life of your vehicle and improve its value when you eventually look to sell.

"As the AA points out, it's a smart move, to get your car repaired if you have any form of minor damage to your paintwork," advises (Mick Hyland of ChipsAway in Blackburn). "Whether a scratch, scuff, chip or dent, a cosmetic repair will not only make sure your car looks good, but will seal the area of damage, making it weatherproof and prevent rust setting in. If you leave it, the rust will eventually lead to corrosion which could ultimately result in a more extensive - and expensive - repair!"

This is exactly where Mick and ChipsAway can help. Using a unique waterborne system developed by ChipsAway Inc. in the USA, ChipsAway can offer a faster, more convenient way of repairing minor damage to automotive paintwork - and at a radically reduced cost.

Car owners no longer need to book vehicles into a body shop for days at a time to have whole panels treated simply to remove a small scratch or chip to their paintwork, Mick operates from a fully equipped vehicle - essentially, his mobile workshop - and takes his services directly to the customer, whether a member of the public or a business.

Today ChipsAway has over 300 UK operators, between them repairing some 300,000 vehicles per year.

For a free estimate with no obligation please contact Mick Hyland on 0800 028 7878.

SUPPORT: Sir Richard Branson with Darwen MP Jake Berry

Apprentices drive backed

By CATHERINE PYE

A project to create jobs for 100 people in 100 days has won the backing of Virgin entrepreneur Sir Richard Branson.

Sir Richard met with Darwen MP Jake Berry, whose '100 in 100' campaign, in conjunction with the National Apprenticeship Service and the Lancashire Work Based Learning Provider Forum, aims to increase the number of apprenticeships in Darwen.

The project was being launched today (Wednesday).

Mr Berry said: "We have already had great support from local business.

"I got backing from Richard Branson during a recent meeting.

"Apprenticeships are a tremendous opportunity for employers and people of all ages.

"We tend to think of apprenticeships as for young people, but that's absolutely not the case.

"Any apprentice can be any age, from 16 upwards, and can be an existing member of staff.

"Here in Darwen we're fortunate to have a great range of high-quality training providers, working with employers and keen to do more.

"So I'd encourage you to take a look at how apprenticeships could benefit your business."

Drivers warned

Drivers on mobile phones, speeding, or over the alcohol limit, in an area of Blackburn will be penalised during a crackdown by police, in Manxman Road, Blackburn.

Museum appeal

By EMMA CRUCES

A piece of Accrington's manufacturing history will feature in a new community museum.

Richard Kenyon helped bring jobs and prosperity to the town in the 1860s with his overhaul of the carpet sweeper design - the Ewbank.

Manufactured at the Entwistle and Kenyon works, in Hyndburn Road, the sweeper soon dominated the UK market.

By 1880, Ewbank sweepers were found in many homes, including Britain's royal palaces.

Now Hyndburn Heritage and Community Group's supporters are celebrating after acquiring a wooden 'Ewbank Royal' to display as part of an upcoming exhibition.

The group is currently working to establish a community museum in Accrington.

It is collecting historical artefacts, and memorabilia, from the Hyndburn area, and keeping them in safe storage.

An exhibition is expected to feature in Accrington Market

Hall towards the end of next month.

Anyone with an item of interest they are willing to loan, or contribute, is urged to get in touch, or take objects along to the next meeting this week.

To loan, or donate, artefacts or memorabilia, contact Angela Fryatt on 07931 484971, who will arrange collection.

To find out more about the proposals for a community museum, join in the next meeting at Accrington Stanley tonight (Wednesday), starting at 7.30pm.

Fears over kids chewing tobacco

By JON LIVESEY

Youngsters are putting their health at risk by chewing tobacco meant for shisha pipes, according to councillors.

Coun Salim Mulla said he had seen youths chewing the tobacco, which comes in a variety of fruit flavours and is often brightly coloured.

Dangers include a risk of poisoning from colourings, as well as permanent mouth sores and cancers.

The Blackburn with Darwen Council Forum meeting, on Thursday, had already heard the local authority was taking a hard line on the sale of illicit tobacco.

Echoing calls by Coun Roy Davies for a crackdown on people who buy tobacco for youngsters, Coun Mulla urged further action.

SHISHA: A shisha pipe smoker

He said: "I'm really glad that the council is clamping down on this, but there needs to be a further clampdown."

"I still see some kids with the small packets of tobacco. The tobacco is mixed with some other ingredients. I have seen them standing around, opening the packets outside corner shops.

"What they do is put it in their hand, mix it and then put it in their mouth. I see a lot of kids doing this, so maybe it is something we need to look at."

Coun Yusuf Jan-Virmani, executive member for neighbourhoods and customer services, said it was a particular problem in the Asian community.

He said ingredients in shisha tobacco, including colouring agents, made it unsuitable for chewing, and dangerous.

"We take this issue very seriously," he said.

"It does concern us and if we know which shops are selling this tobacco to children, we will sort it out."

CitizenTime King of obscure hosts quiz show

Presenter, actor, and comedian Alexander Armstrong talks about why his new series is more civilised than the average panel show. Alexander Armstrong's Big Ask is on Mondays, at 9pm, on Dave, from February 6.

60 SECONDS WITH ...
ALEXANDER ARMSTRONG

HOW WOULD YOU DESCRIBE YOUR NEW SHOW?

It's kind of a relaxed panel show. We get each of our three guests to devise a question on a particular subject that will flummox the other two. It's a test of obscure general knowledge, but fun - just the sorts of strange facts that we all know and have stored away. It really gives rise to some flights of fancy from the guests. And it gets comedians to do what they like to do best, which is catch each other out!

WERE YOU PLEASED WITH THE RESPONSE TO THE PILOT?

Yes, I think what's really nice about it is that it has a very genial atmosphere. It's not one of those shows where comics are all shouting over each other. There's no woodwork, just three comfy armchairs. It's meant to be like my flat, so it has a nice homely feel. Can I say this without sounding terrible, but it feels a bit more civilised, and less like a bear pit?

WITH BIG ASK AND YOUR BBC ONE SERIES POINTLESS, ARE YOU CORNERING THE MARKET IN OBSCURE KNOWLEDGE-BASED QUIZ SHOWS?

Even as I was saying 'obscure knowledge' I thought, 'Oh, that sounds familiar'. I am becoming the custodian of people's strange little-known facts. I might have to re-launch Big Ask!

Hugh in solo show

SONGWRITER: Hugh Cornwell will be previewing songs from his album, and mixing in some songs from the Stranglers

For his forthcoming appearance at Darwen Library Theatre, Hugh Cornwell is planning to offer fans a little insight into what makes him tick.

"I've got plenty to go at," he said from his hotel room in upstate New York. "I've been working on the show set for a couple of weeks now. I'm just put the finishing touches to my latest album Totem and Taboo, which will be my 10th solo album, so I think I'll be previewing some of the songs from that. Plus I've got all my other solo work and then I'll mix in some songs from the Stranglers.

"But I've also pulled out a few songs I grew up with, the songs which turned me on to music, so I've been working on an old Everly Brothers song and a Ricky Nelson cover."

From his early days with The Stranglers, one of the most influential punk and new wave bands, to his current position as one of the elder statesmen of songwriting, Hugh has never lost his passion for music.

Hugh Cornwell, ex-guitarist and singer with The Stranglers, is to play an acoustic show at Darwen's Library Theatre. JOHN ANSON caught up with him...

With the acoustic tour, Hugh is deliberately playing more intimate venues.

"The acoustic shows are pretty intense," he said. "If there's a bar in the room and people are standing they tend to start talking. That's not too bad when you've got a full band behind you, but when it's just you and a guitar it's very off-putting for both me and the rest of the audience. Therefore I've made a conscious decision to play in theatres. I think a seated audience immediately treats the show as more of a performance and listens."

Damp is a creeping menace that affects thousands of homes across Lancashire.

It rots woodwork and carpets, peels wallpaper and causes fungus and mould growth on walls.

During the cold, wet months damp can wreak havoc in your home and on your health. Treating your property for damp now will help to keep you warm and dry at this time of year. You could also save money because dry walls are better insulators, and a damp free home will feel more comfortable.

It is important to tackle damp because ignoring it can store up serious problems and also pose potential health risks – especially if you have a medical condition such as asthma or rheumatism.

For years, people have tried to solve damp problems. Traditional methods included injecting chemical solutions but unfortunately this can involve contractors coming into your home, drilling into brickwork, and hacking off and replacing plaster.

The work can be messy, intrusive and your home will need redecorating once it has been done.

And despite all this upheaval, there is no guarantee that it will work in the long term. Chemical barriers tend to break down over time, and once this happens – that damp will be back.

The Holland Damp Proofing System is a breath of fresh air that can permanently rid your home of the scourge of damp.

The idea is simple: draw out the moisture and the damp will disappear! The System involves a series of damp-regulating bricks which neatly fit into specially prepared niches in the external walls of your home, close to the ground.

These cleverly allow air to flow into the brick chambers and out again – circulating airflow through the inside of the wall which evaporates the moisture, drying out the wall and allowing it to breathe.

Holland's no-chemicals system is mess-free and as the work is completed from the outside there is no need to replaster.

No chemicals, no mess and no replastering – your property dries out... and stays dry for good. It can be used on most types of wall (including stone) and can be used on all types of property at ground level.

The company prides itself on its high standards of customer service. Holland Damp Proofing's staff handle all aspects of the business and they don't use commission-based sales people.

With thousands of satisfied customers, Holland Damp Proofing is the leading non-chemical damp proofing company in the UK, and it doesn't trade under any other name.
